

Romantic Valentine's Day Escapes On a Budget

01/22/2017 07:31 pm ET

Alicia Barnes

Alicia is a Communications Specialist, Avid Traveler and Film Enthusiast.

Although Valentine's Day is a holiday made up by the likes of Hallmark, I do find it provides much needed inspiration to couples and friends to travel. To me, Valentine's Day is doing it's job - inspiring travel!

For those love birds seeking out a long weekend adventure or a lengthy getaway, I've scouted some amazing deals for under $1500. Take a look at these jaw dropping trips full of romance and wonder.

You can also head on another romantic adventure while in NYC and head to Max Brenner in Union Square for a dessert nightcap featuring a variety of chocolatey options including its European Fondue which includes bananas, strawberries, chocolate chunk cookies, marshmallows and a fluffy chocolate sponge cake to dip into your choice of two towers of melted chocolate (milk, dark or white) for just $22.59.