The best holiday gifts for chefs, bakers and foodies

If you have to come up with a present for an aspiring cook — or just a friend who loves food — look no further than the following gifts, which are sure to impress this holiday season. Who knows? You might even score yourself some free meals.

Max Brenner's First Aid Chocolate Box, $44.90

First Aid Chocolate Box (Max Brenner)

For the stressed-out chocoholic, this is the cheeky gift to give. The life-saving pack contains decadent chocolate confections like cocoa cookies rolled in rich dark chocolate, cubes of silky chocolate filled with espresso and hazelnut, and caramelized pecans coated in — you guessed it — chocolate. The collection of smooth chocolatey goodness is also packed in a kitschy bright red “First Aid” tin — no medical background required.
