

The best place to get hot chocolate, according to Boston.com readers

By Kristi Palma March 3, 2017

That bout of spring weather was nice while it lasted, but this weekend, it's back to winter. And there's not much better than a steaming cup of hot chocolate on a cold winter day.

We asked Boston.com readers on Instagram (using the hashtag #hotchocbdc) and Facebook to share their favorite spots in the Boston area to get a cup of hot chocolate. While we got an assortment of answers, there was a very clear winner: L.A. Burdick Chocolate Shop & Cafe, which has locations in the Back Bay and Harvard Square.

Readers also gave shout-outs to Caffe Nero (various locations), Dunkin' Donuts (various locations), J.P. Licks (various locations), Max Brenner (Boston), Met Back Bay (various locations), Modern Pastry (North End, Medford), Panera Bread (various locations), Paris Creperie (Brookline), Shake Shack (various locations), Taza Chocolate (Somerville, Boston), The Thinking Cup (Boston Common, North End, Back Bay), The Well Coffee House (South Station), The Wired Puppy (Boston), and Trident Booksellers and Cafe (Boston).