

Valentine's sweet shop decadence: Fun desserts in NYC

Sweet shops in NYC seem made for Valentine's Day, that time of year when our obsession with all things red, heart-shaped and sugary knows no bounds.

By Lee Magill

Wed Feb 5 2014

Like 6 people like this. Be the first of your friends.

Tweet 0

+1 0

Sweet shop production in NYC kicks into high gear this time of year for Valentine's Day, that warm-and-fuzzy holiday in which hearts and I love yous take over. Since this February holiday is all about sweets, we've rounded up the most fun and tasty treats from sweet-shop spots around town, from chocolatiers like La Maison du Chocolat to bakeries such as William Greenberg Desserts and Georgetown Cupcake. Click through our slide show for some inspiration on how to make Valentine's Day 2014 the sweetest one ever for the loves of your life.

Photograph: Jessica Lin

Love Story bonbons, $13 for a nine-piece box; Loves Me/Loves Me Not box, $11.50; and Bursting Heart chocolate box, $12; at Max Brenner, 841 Broadway between 13th and 14th Sts (646-467-8803, maxbrenner.com).