

FEBRUARY 3, 2014

GIMME SOME SUGAR

30 ooey-goey ways to devour chocolate

Share Like 21 Pin it Tweet in Share

PREVIOUS ALL

Some call it the month of love. (Eye roll.) We prefer to take a different outlook.

Welcome to the month of unabashed chocolate consumption.

Whether you fancy to drink it from a glass at a Parisian café, turn it into hazelnut bark or buy it in the form of salami (oh, just you wait), we've got 30 delicious ways to devour chocolate.

Start by clicking on our map to explore your chocolate wanderlust. Hint: On February 14, Florence, Italy, hosts a chocolate festival. Then move on to our recipe board for some must-have printables. And lastly, feast your eyes on the craziest products you've ever seen (yes, that is a triple-stacked chocolate croissant).

Who needs love when you've got this?

NOW WHAT?

INDULGE YOUR INNER CHOCOHOLIC

The Max Brenner Kangaroo Cup

Yes, this is a coffee cup with a side slot for chocolate bars. The hot coffee melts the chocolate and then you drink both in tandem. We can't make this stuff up.

(Max Brenner, $22)